Wilson's possession, millions of dollars worth of cotton, a large Arsenal, naval iron works and other manufactories which together with many buildings belonging to prominent rebels were destroyed.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 24, 1865

In consequence of the press of dispatches, we are forced to omit our leader to-day, with much other interesting matter.

Complimentary Dinner.

Learning of the early departure from Utah of Capt. Chas. H. Hempstead, the members of the Bar in Salt Lake City, tendered him, on Friday evening, an invitation to a dinner at the "Globe," for reasons best expressed in the following note, from A. Miner, Esq., Chairman of the Committee for that purpose:

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY.

April 21st, 1865.

CAPT. CHAS. H. HEMPSTEAD: Sir:—Learning with much regret that you have received orders to leave this city immediately and report yourself for duty elsewhere, and being desirous of testifying in some degree our appreciation of your many social qualities, and merited worth as a professional gentleman, the members of the Bar of this city tender to you a dinner at the "Globe," this Friday evening, at 8 o'clock, P. M., and cordially ask your acceptance and participation.

Very respectfully, etc.,

(Signed)

A. MINER, Ch'r Com. Invitation.

The invitation was accepted, and at the hour named the fraternity assembled at the "Globe," about twenty gentlemen being present, mostly of the legal persuasion, though other professions were well represented. Mr. Miner presided and read the notes of His Excellency Gov. Doty and Col. O. H. Irish, regretting their inability to attend.

Mr. host of the "Globe" did himself full justice on the occasion, as did the guests to the toothsome viands, which he bounteously provided. When the wine came on, the Chairman, in a neat speech, proposed the health of—"our guest, Capt. Hempstead,"—which was handsomely responded to by the "aforesaid" Capt. H., who ended by proposing—"The Judiciary,"—to which Judge Titus eloquently responded.

The spirits of the party had begun to rise by this time, under the inspiration of Champagne and genuine feeling, until even our modest friend Capt. Kittredge became eloquent and, in response to the sentiment, "Our Military, the strong arm of a free Country," spread himself magnificently.

Toast after toast followed, and speech to speech succeeded, until the "flow of soul" circled around the generous board. At 12 o'clock the last toast was proposed, the last speech made, and the joyous brotherhood went to their homes "duly sober." Altogether it was a most pleasant affair and very gratifying to our "departing brother in law" and fellow Knight of the Quill.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY VEDETTE.]

New York, 22d.

The Tribune learns from a passenger, from Charleston, that just as the steamer left, the report came that the expedition sent out by Gilmore, under Potter, to Summerville and Manchester, had destroyed all the railroad and bridges between Columbia and Florence, a thousand bales of cotton, three locomotives, thirteen passenger cars, and brought in 2,500 liberated slaves.

The Herald's Richmond correspondent says: Gen. Ord has been superseded in command here by Gen. Halleck, the former officer being ordered to report at Charleston, S. C. Gen. Gilmore, lately commanding the latter place, is relieved and directed to report for duty at Washington.

Judge Campbell and Mayor Mayo, of Richmond, who it was reported had been placed under arrest, were still at liberty in that city, on Thursday last.

The Tribune's Washington special says: Parties from Richmond report an unsatisfactory condition of affairs there. One Union soldier had been assassinated and several deadly assaults had been made upon Union citizens.

Gen. Dent, late of Grant's staff, succeeds Gen. Shipley as military Governor of Richmond.

Colton Green, son-in-law of Father Ritchie, has been arrested on the charge of complicity in the conspiracy.

Mrs. Lincoln is still seriously indisposed.

St. Louis, 21st.

The Jackson, (Miss.) News of the 9th says: Gen. W. Adams, with about fifteen hundred men, encountered the Federal forces under Gen. Crosson, twenty-five hundred strong, at Pleasant Ridge, Ala., and whipped them badly, killing three hundred and sixty, and wounding and capturing a large number, taking all their artillery and pontoons.

Memphis, 20th.

The entire population of Memphis turned out to-day to testify their respect for the memory of the late President, and more unanimous lamentation of sorrow could not have been made in the most loyal city. Fully twenty thousand people participated in the demonstration, including the enrolled militia and Federal troops, civic societies, etc.

Cairo, 21st.

Little Rock advices of the 15th. There was a quorum in both branches of the Legislature, and the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery in the United States, was unanimously passed by both houses of the Arkansas Legislature. The fourteenth bill is about to be adopted by the Legislature, disfranchising all men who held positions of honor or trust in the rebel army.

Gen. Reynolds has offered Grant's terms of surrender to the rebel General Fagan, but the result is not known.

On the 8th, a Lieutenant and seventeen men of the 11th New York Volunteers were attacked by about fifty rebels, near Germantown, Tenn., and six of the Federals were killed, two wounded and six taken prisoners. The others, including the Lieutenant, escaped.

Chicago, April 22d.

A meeting of the citizens of the Pacific coast was held yesterday morning at Metropolitan Hotel, New York. Nearly every State and Territory was represented. George Barlow, of California, was appointed President; R. C. McCormick, of Arizona, J. N. Dowles, of California, and A. Bushnell, of Oregon, were appointed Secretaries.

Mr. Barlow read the responses of President Johnson to the various addresses made to him within the few days passed, and commented on them, as being full of promise to the country.

Mr. McCormick moved the following resolutions, which were duly adopted and ordered to be published here and sent by telegraph to the journals of the Pacific:

Resolved, That we hail with the most sincere satisfaction, the sentiments expressed by His Excellency Andrew Johnson, in response to the addresses of the various public bodies, made to him since his accession to the highest office in this Republic.

Resolved, That in his clear and positive views of treason and its enormous crimes, his comprehensive understanding of the great responsibilities resting upon him, his determined devotion to the Union, and his declared purpose to advance every measure for its preservation and the restoration of peace upon such terms as are only calculated to make it honorable, endearing and satisfactory to the loyal heart, we have cause for profound congratulations.

Resolved, That for ourselves and for the people of the Pacific coast, irrespective of past partisan relations, we pledge a cordial, abiding co-operation with our new President in all his efforts to promote the best interests of the nation in the hour of its dire necessity, and especially in his labors towards the speedy and complete overthrow of the unbalanced rebellion, whose great wickedness has culminated in the assassination in cold blood of the foremost friend of freedom and rights of man.

On motion of Mayor Sherman, of Nevada, the following committee was appointed to make arrangements for the participation of the citizens of the Pacific coast in the obsequies on Tuesday next, viz: E. Sherman, J. H. Kinkead, T. J. Edwards, G. W. Guthrie, O. H. Wilkins and C. H. Bassett.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet at the same place at 8 o'clock last evening, when a general attendance of residents of the Pacific States and Territories is requested.

Tamaqua, Pa. April 21.

Booth has not been arrested, but has been traced as far as Tamaqua. A man was arrested on suspicion, but has been discharged.

New York, April 22d.

Information from Headquarters army of Potomac of the 20th, states, that an officer from Goldsboro, stated that Johnston's army is completely demoralized, since hearing of Lee's surrender and Johnston dared not risk a battle.

The Tribune's Washington special says, while President Lincoln was in Richmond, Judge Campbell told him, that in an interview with Davis, Breckenridge and Benjamin, just before they left, he said to them, that as there was no hope for the Confederacy, and President Lincoln couldn't negotiate with them he, Lincoln, would negotiate with the States and recognize the right of the Virginia Legislature to control the troops of that State. He then told Mr. Lincoln, that if he would permit that body to convene, it would doubtless recall the Virginia troops from the field.

Mr. Lincoln cautioned Judge Campbell against any misunderstanding, and gave him in writing, his only terms, which were those tendered in the Hampton Road interview, to which he added another, that, in case the bodies persisted in war, their property should be relentlessly confiscated. On the way to Washington, Mr. Lincoln wrote an order to Gen. Weitzel to permit the Virginia Legislature to convene in Richmond, for the purpose of withdrawing the Virginia troops from the rebel army, but not to allow the use of any treasonable language, nor the adoption of treasonable measures; but on the very day of his death, he received a letter from J. Campbell, toned with his usual insolence, ignoring altogether the proposition which the President had made to him, and urging that though the military power of the Confederacy was destroyed, the spirit of the southern people was still unbroken and if you want to conciliate, he said, it will be wise for you to grant amnesty and it is necessary for you to treat leniently with public men and seek their assistance. This was to much, even for Mr. Lincoln's good nature. He characterized Campbell's course as ungrateful, outrageous and mean. In the meanwhile, the surrender of Lee's army obviated the necessity for the convening of the Virginia legislature and he sent an order countermanding the call.

New York, 22d.

The Tribune's special says: The investigation of the conspiracy now going on, shows that Mr. Lincoln's death had already been attempted by a person.

St. Louis, 22d.

The extensive machine shop of the United States Arsenal, three miles below this city, was burned last night. The loss is about $75,000.

Washington, 22d.

President Johnson has removed his quarters at the hotel to the residence of Hon. Samuel Hooper, on H street.

Mrs. Lincoln has not sufficiently recovered to remove from the White House. She is more composed, however, and is undecided whether to return to Illinois or not.

New York, 22d.

Intelligence from Richmond indicates that the law for the punishment of treason will be enforced in that city.

Washington, 22d.

The Richmond Whig of yesterday says: For some days it has been reported here that the so-called Confederate Government, consisting of Jeff. Davis and the handful of his officers and soldiers, had reached Augusta, Ga., and had made a show to establish itself there, preparatory to the flight to the trans-Mississippi.

Washington, April 22d.

The Surgeon-General reports that Secretary Seward passed a very uncomfortable night, but has taken his breakfast with relish and is quite as strong as he was yesterday. Frederick Seward has improved within the past twenty-four hours.

New York, April 22d.

New Orleans papers say that our forces are following the retreating rebels from Mobile in the direction of Macon, and the speedy capture of Macon is expected. Kirby Smith has been conscripting slaves up the Red river.

A plan is on foot to erect a monument to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, the proceeds to be defrayed by dollar subscriptions. Five hundred names are already appended. It is proposed to erect the monument in this city. The ladies propose starting a subscription for the ladies of America to present Mrs. Lincoln with a comfortable home.

Washington, April 22d.

Within the past four days a large number of Marylanders and Washingtonians, who went South at the beginning of the rebellion, including some prominent citizens, have returned to this city. They were with Lee's army and were allowed to go to their homes according to the cartel. Some of them are yet bitter in their feelings, and express their intention to return to the South when exchanged, and if required, to again raise their hands against our flag. The most of them, however, admit that the South is overpowered and the war at an end, and that they are glad to get home again.

Washington, 22d.

Yesterday evening, a bearer of dispatches arrived from Gen. Sherman's army. An agreement for the suspension of hostilities and a memorandum of what is called a basis for peace, had been entered into on the 18th by Gen. Sherman with the rebel Gen. Johnston. The rebel Gen. Breckenridge was present at the conference. A Cabinet meeting was held at eight o'clock in the evening, at which the action of Gen. Sherman was disapproved by the President, Secretary of War, Gen. Grant, and by every member of the Cabinet. Sherman was ordered to renew hostilities immediately, and was directed that instructions given by the late President, in the following telegram, which was penned by Mr. Lincoln himself at the Capitol, on the night of the 3d of March, were approved by President Johnson, and were reiterated to govern his action as military commander. On the night of the 3d of March, while President Lincoln and his Cabinet were at the Capitol, a telegram from Grant was brought to the Secretary of War, informing him that Lee had requested an interview or conference to make an arrangement for terms of peace. The letter of Lee was published in a letter to Davis, to the rebel Congress. Grant's telegram was submitted to Mr. Lincoln, who, after pondering a few moments, took up his pen and wrote with his own hand, the following reply, which he submitted to the Secretary of War and Secretary of State. It was then dated and addressed and signed by the Secretary of War, and telegraphed to Grant:

Washington, March 3d, 1865.

To Lt. Gen. Grant:—The President directs me to say to you that he wishes you not to hold the conference with Gen. Lee, unless it be for the capitulation of Lee's army, or on some minor and purely military matter. He instructs me to say, that you are not to decide, discuss, or confer, upon any political questions. Such questions the President holds in his own hands, and will submit them to no military conferences or conventions. In the meantime, you are to press to the utmost your military advantages.

(Signed)

STANTON.

The orders of Gen. Sherman to Gen. Stoneman, to withdraw from Salisbury and join him, will probably open the way for Davis to escape to Mexico, or Europe, with his plunder, which is reported to be very large, including not only the plunder of the Richmond banks, but previous accumulations.

A dispatch received by this Department, from Richmond, says: It is stated here, by respectable parties, that the amount of specie taken South by Jeff Davis and his party, is very large, including not only the plunder of the Richmond banks, but previous accumulations. They hope, it is said, to make terms with Sherman or some other southern commander, by which they will be permitted with their effects, including this gold plunder, to go to Mexico or Europe, and Johnston's negotiations look to this end.

After the Cabinet meeting last night, Gen. Grant started for North Carolina to direct the operations against Johnston's army. (Signed) STANTON.

Washington, April 22d.

To Stanton:—I have the honor to report that the Secretary of State is stronger and more comfortable to-night. Mr. F. Seward's condition is justifying and requiring a further removal of fragments of bone, which was made this morning. The operations were borne well, and has been productive of partial relief. (Signed)

BARNES, Surg. Gen'l

Washington, April 22d.

In a dispatch dated Mobile 14th. Gen. Canby reports; we find in Mobile and its defences on the West side of the Bay over 150 guns and a very large amount of ammunition and supplies of all kinds and about one thousand prisoners.

Inventories are now being taken and a detailed report will be forwarded as soon as they are complete. The quantity of cotton will probably reach 3,000 bales. A large amount of provisions and forage. Gen. Hancock reports that nearly all of Mosby's command have surrendered, including nearly or quite all of the officers, except Mosby himself. Some of Mosby's own men are hunting him. A reward of 2,000 dollars is offered for him, by Gen. Hancock, who has been directed to establish his Headquarters at Washington.

The counties of Prince George, Charles and St. Mary's, have during the whole war been noted for hostilities to the Government and for protection to rebel blockade runners, rebel spies and every species of public enemies. The murderer of the President was harbored there before the murder. Booth fled in that direction and if he escapes, it will be owing to the rebel accomplices in that region. The military commander of the district will surely take measures to bring these rebels and accomplices in the murder to a sense of their criminal conduct. (Signed)

STANTON.

Washington, 22d.

As reports have been in circulation for some time of the correspondence between Gens. Johnston and Sherman, the memorandum or basis of what was agreed upon and the results of all, is as follows:

Memorandum of basis of agreement made this 18th day of April, 1865, near Durham's Station, N. C., by and between Gen. Jos. Johnston, commanding the Confederate army, and Gen. Sherman, commanding the army of the United States in North Carolina, both present.

First. The contending armies now in the field, to maintain their statu quo, until notice is given by the commanding General of either army omits opponents and a reasonable time, say forty-eight hours, be allowed the Confederate armies over in existence, to be disbanded and conducted to their several state capitals, there to deposit their arms and public property in the state arsenal, and each officer and man to execute and file an agreement to cease from the acts of war, and to abide the action of both state and Federal authority. The number of arms and munitions of war to be reported to the chief of ordinance at Washington City, subject to the future action of the Congress of the United States, and in the mean time to be used solely to maintain peace and order within the borders of the states respectively.

Third. The recognition by the Executive of the United States, of the several State governments and their officers and Legislatures, on their taking the oath as prescribed by the Constitution of the United States, and where conflicting State governments has resulted from war, the legitimacy of all, shall be submitted to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Fourth. The re-establishment of all Federal courts in the several States, with powers as defined by the Constitution and laws of Congress.

Fifth. The people and inhabitants of all States to be guaranteed, so far as the Executive can, in their political rights and franchise, as well as their rights of person and property, as defined by the Constitution of the United States and of the States respectively.

Sixth. The Executive authority of the government of the United States is not to disturb any of the people by reason of the late war, so long as they live in peace and quiet and abstain from acts of armed hostilities and obey the laws in existence, at any place of their residence.

Seventh. In general terms was to leave a general amnesty, so far as the Executive power of the United States can command, or, on condition of the disbandment of the confederate armies and distribution of farms and resumption of peaceful pursuits by officers and men, as hitherto composing the said armies.

Not being fully empowered by our principals to fulfil these terms, we individually and officially pledge ourselves to promptly obtain necessary authority and to carry out the above program.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

New York, April 21st.
The Herald's correspondent says: The paroling of Lee's army was completed on the 13th. An official report puts the number of men at 26,115, and 59 pieces of artillery, 71 stands of colors, 15,918 stands of small arms, 1,100 wagons, caissons, etc., 400 horses and mules.

The Herald's Paris correspondent says: Maximilian's Minister in London has resigned, declaring that he is satisfied the Mexican Empire is collapsing and Maximilian will soon abdicate and return to Austria, being completely disappointed in his two most important expectations, the recognition of the United States and support of the Pope and Mexican clergy. In confirmation of this report, it is stated that Maximilian has retracted the renunciation of his family rights to the throne of Austria, made before leaving Europe.

The Times' Spanish Fort correspondent says: There was captured in the defenses of Mobile, 316 guns, of which Spanish Fort had forty-six. The rebel gunboats escaped up the river, but they will be captured or destroyed; there were five of them, four iron clads. Our loss was about 1,000. The rebel loss in killed and wounded is not less than 2,000.

West Gulf Squadron, flag ship Stockade, Ap'l 12th)

I have the honor to inform the Department that on Monday, 10th inst., subsequent to the capture of fort Alexis and Spanish Fort, the Octarora and iron clads were enabled in consequence of the thorough dragging of the river to move up the river nearly abreast of Spanish Fort, from which point Lt. Commander Law, with his rifled guns shelled with great precision Fort's Huger and Tracy and with such effect that both Forts were evacuated on the evening of the 11th and our forces marched in. The forts I shall hold until Gen. Canby can garrison them with his troops. This morning I moved with gunboats conveying 800 men of Granger's force to invest the water side of Mobile Bay, for the purpose of attacking Mobile.

On our arrival, we soon ascertained that the enemy had evacuated all their defenses and retreated up the Alabama river. The gunboats, will, in a few days, unquestionably be captured, unless destroyed by the rebels themselves. Gen. Granger and myself have just sent into Mobile a formal demand to the Mayor for its unconditional surrender, which will undoubtedly be accorded, as the city is now at our mercy. The navy has already hoisted the stars and stripes over the walls of Forts Pinto and Spanish and the river battery; we also have entire possession of Choctaw Point Battery, and three heavy forts below it, within Gas Bend. I shall place a sufficient number of gunboats in front of the city to give efficient protection to the loyal inhabitants, of whom I learn there is a great number. Gen. Canby, with the forces under his immediate command, is at present in Blakely. A hundred and fifty torpedoes have been removed from Blakely river by Commander Crosby.

(Signed) H. K. THATCHER,

Rear Admiral,

Comd'g West Gulf Squadron.
